

MEDIA RELEASE (send to local media outlets)

For Immediate Release

Trees for Hope Event Comes to [Community Name]

[City, Province/State] — Residents of [Community Name] are invited to take part in Trees for Hope, a grassroots initiative encouraging people to plant trees as symbols of hope, resilience, and community support in response to growing uncertainty surrounding the proposed Alto high-speed rail corridor, which has left many local residents and farmers facing the possibility of land expropriation. In addition to environmental and economic concerns, the situation is taking a toll on mental health in rural communities.

“Trees for hope” is a movement that aims to transform tree planting into a symbolic and caring act. We envision a summer where people plant trees everywhere along the proposed Alto corridor. We want these trees to be planted as a symbol of hope for a bright future on this land, and as a commitment to making sure that everyone who plants a tree gets to see it grow to maturity.

A local Trees for Hope event will take place on [Date] at [Location], where participants can [obtain free/low cost trees to plant on their properties/participate in tree planting/connect with neighbours]. The event will also share mental health information and resources for those affected. [pre-registration information if necessary].

“Planting a tree is a simple but powerful way to express hope for the future and support one another,” said [Organizer Name].

Community members are encouraged to participate, whether by attending the event, planting a tree at home, or supporting neighbours during this time.

For more information about this local event, visit [Website Link]. For more information about the Trees for Hope movement, visit www.altno.ca/treesforhope.

For more information on why so many oppose the ALTO Train project, visit www.altno.ca.

###

Media Contact:

[Name]

[Email]

[Phone Number]

End of Release